Objective: To continue to obtain in-depth knowledge of the internet and its wide range of technologies through self studies, team work, and real world experience. I further plan to use this knowledge to progress my employer as well as myself into the future of the internet and e-commerce business.

About Myself: I have had the enthusiasm for web development since my high school days of tinkering with free websites on Geocities and Angelfire. Since those days, over 7 years ago, my enthusiasm has turned into an eagerness to learn and soak up as much information as possible. I achieved my Master CIW Designer Certification in 2004 and began my career that I had hoped would eventually take me to where I am today. I am fluent in PHP and its integration with MySQL, not to mention the basics of development: HTML, CSS, and Javascript. Recently I have picked up knowledge in jQuery and have been using AJAX for the latter half of my current employment. I am also no stranger to e-commerce solutions and have very good knowledge of the OSCommerce system.

NaturalShare is a service designed to attract interested parties to sell products, as affiliates, for other companies and manufacturers. It utilizes two sides: Firstly, it is an informational site to attract prospective affiliates; and secondly, it functions as a complete web store solution, if such service is purchased. A client will purchase the "Turnkey" solution which includes a unique domain name for their web store along with a unique toll-free phone number (or they can be purchased separately, if desired). The web store is a templated site to sell the current listing of products. The client has an account page that will control web store template, META tags, and various areas of dynamic content. The client side account was also developed to be informational; the homepage has dynamic messages set by the admin that can be displayed to one, several, or all accounts along with other pages to view and edit account information. The site Administration side controls affiliate accounts (add, edit, and remove), affiliate information (e-mail and account homepage messages), as well as domain names and toll-free phone numbers. OSCommerce is used to handle both sides' shopping cart needs.

Technologies: PHP, MySQL, AJAX

Universal Unlimited is a website designed to be purely informational to provide distributors with vital information about the products they carry. It is account based for administrators and regular users. Administrators can add, edit, and remove users as well as control website dynamic content and file uploads. Users can view privileged information in their account pages pertaining to products that they sell in their own establishments.

Inventory is an in-house web application and was designed to provide an effective way to track out-going products. This application provides a constantly focused text box used to automatically input scanned bar codes via jQuery and AJAX. The administration side controls bar codes, products, and companies. It also provides intuitive reporting based on user selected dates.
